

Jennifer Lang She's finally done it!

Jen has been working within the Canada Pipe and Clow Canada Hamilton offices as a student temp since May 2003. Jennifer is the daughter of Terry Lang, Canada Pipe's Ont. Sales Mgr. and has been around long enough to know almost all of the employees of our two companies and the business we do. Jen's goal in life has been to become a primary school teacher and as her summer job she started with us to earn some of that much needed extra money.

Jennifer has worked in our accounting and sales departments, out in the warehouse boxing old files and cleaning up storage rooms, and has also done many hours working our switchboard. Whenever we needed an extra hand assisting in one department or another, even during her spring and winter breaks, she tried to make herself available. She has always been willing to go that extra step, even though she is only a student employee she has become quite an asset to us here in Hamilton.

After completing high school, she entered McMaster University on her quest to becoming a teacher, earning her Bachelors of Psychology. She has such an out-going and energetic personality, it is hard to have a bad day with Jennifer around. After completing her 5 years of education, this May 2008 she finally received her masters of education with honours from teachers college at D'Youville College in Buffalo, N.Y. Jen has also obtained a teaching position starting in Sept. 08, in the area of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, teaching primary school children. We are all so very proud of you Jennifer and wish you all the best in your career. You will make an exceptional teacher, as you have already demonstrated with your co-op students who hated to see you leave. We will miss your stories and your effervescent personality, and we know you will be successful in your new career.

Good Luck, Miss Lang!
